Dave,

I think it would be important to share Ms. Horst email with the members of the PC.

It is also important to note that I have reached out to them (MOTA) for input and a meeting to discuss ways to work together and they have never been interested in meeting or discussing our project. They have also refused to discuss specifics on how to improve our development project.

I urge you all to attend and speak at the Planning Council meeting--each of you can talk about it from a different angle, and you should provide written copies of your statements to the Planning Council members.(5 for PC members + 5 for the planner, for Steve Monowitz if there, and the person running the hearing will need a few copies).

You could urge that the matter be tabled because you have not had adequate time to study the report and obtain information that might refute the report at the outset, or just make your presentations. The PC probably will not grant you a delay before hearing from you.

I think it's also important that if you have questions about the report and/or the developer's approach to things, you should ask those prior to the hearing or at the hearing if time does not permit before the hearing. These may help you get a delay. If you can create doubt, the Planning Council may also have the same questions after listening to you, and may ask the County to provide more information.

While the planner on this and his bosses may have all the information they think they need to make a recommendation; there may be something you can raise that would give them pause to table it until the next PC meeting.

Have to say that of all the arborists we've had to deal with, this one seems to be more honest than the rest, who simply do the bidding of the home owner or developer who hires them.

Hi Dave,

While there will not be time or opportunity to incorporate such comments regarding the arborist report into the PC staff report itself

It feels like this is being rushed to PC. If you don't have time to incorporate comments, why not go to the next PC meeting so you can do a proper report?

Brian

This is Rick Gessner's final arborist report. We are scheduling this subdivision before the PC for the 6/28 agenda. The staff report for the project (which will include as an attachment this arborist report) will be mailed out & made available on our website by end of day, 6/21. The staff report will respond to Gessner's recommendations & specific tree measures. While there will not be time or opportunity to incorporate such comments regarding the arborist report into the PC staff report itself, we welcome all & any written or emailed comments about the Gessner Report specifically or about the PC staff report upon its availability. All such comments, written &/or emailed, will be delivered/transferred to the PC so that they have them for the 6/28 hearing to include into their consideration.
